About the University

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University was founded in the 13th century as the Collège de la Sorbonne by Robert de Sorbon and is located in the heart of the capital's Latin Quarter. It is one of the oldest French universities, renowned throughout the world. The present-day university has combined tradition with modernity since its establishment in 1971.

Three Major Disciplinary Areas

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University offers courses in three disciplinary areas: economics and management, arts and humanities and law and political science. This broad range of courses makes Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne the largest French university in humanities and social sciences, in terms of both the variety of subjects taught and the number of students.

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University has always emphasised interdisciplinary education and research. Today the university offers a number of innovative double degrees at both bachelor's and master's levels with excellent reputations in France and abroad.

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University is very well placed in several international rankings. It particularly stands out in the latest 2026 QS World University Rankings by subject, where eleven of its academic fields are ranked in the global top 50.

A Research-Driven University

Teaching and research are intrinsically linked at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University. As with teaching, research is also structured around three major disciplinary areas with 37 research units (24 of which are in partnership with the French National Centre for Scientific Research and/or the National Research Institute for Sustainable Development) and 10 doctoral schools. Every year, more than 320 PhD theses and HDR (habilitations to supervise research) are defended at the university.

International Outlook

More than 20% of the university's 46,000 students are international students enrolled across the institution's 10 academic departments and four institutes. Internationalisation at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne is constantly increasing thanks to strong and long-standing links with a large number of global institutions (around 360 partners in nearly 80 countries) and the university's involvement in a number of networks.

This great international presence makes it possible for Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University to offer international joint supervision of PhDs, joint degrees and Erasmus Mundus programmes, and other international degrees such as delocalised degrees within foreign partner universities.

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne is a founding member of the European university alliance Una Europa alongside 10 leading European higher education and research institutions. The Una Europa partners have selected six focus areas to launch their collaboration in teaching, education and research: Europe and the world, sustainability, cultural heritage, data science and artificial intelligence, health, and future materials.

Administrative Procedures

Visas and Residence Permits

If you are not from one of the European Union member states, one of the European Free Trade Association countries (Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, Switzerland), Andorra, Monaco, San Marino or the Vatican City, then you must obtain a visa in order to come and study at the university. You must complete this procedure before your arrival in France. Visit the France-Visas website to find out which visa to apply for depending on your situation and your stay.

THE MAIN TYPES OF VISAS FOR STUDYING IN FRANCE

Visas valid for three months and above
(long-stay visas)

Long-stay visas valid as a residence permit for students (VLS-TS student visas) allow you to study in France for a period of four to twelve months. They can be renewed. Upon expiry of this visa you must request a residence permit in order to stay in France.

Temporary long-stay visas for students (VLS-T student visas) allow you to study in France for a period of four to twelve months. This type of visa cannot be renewed.

Long-stay visas with the following clause: “residence permit must be requested within the first two months following arrival in France” you will have to go to the prefecture within two months in order to obtain a residence permit.

Visas valid for less than three months
(short-stay visas)

Short-term visas for students sitting examinations are only for non-European students and are only valid for travel in France. This visa allows you to come to France to sit a French higher education admission interview or entrance examination. Please note that short-stay visas for students sitting examinations can only be awarded if the results of the selection process are known within three months.

Short-term Schengen visas are valid for a maximum of a 90-day period for use within the Schengen area. This can be either used for an uninterrupted period of 90 days or several periods totaling 90 days within a 180-day period. You may be exempt from this visa depending on your nationality or situation.

Short-term Schengen visas are valid for business or leisure purposes, which could include a short course, an internship or a paid position (providing the holder has obtained the right to work). Schengen single-entry visas are only valid for a single trip. Schengen single-entry and multiple-entry visas allow you to travel around the Schengen area for a fixed period of six months to five years.

Visa Application Procedure

Before departing for France you must request a visa from the French consulate in your country of residence. You must present proof of university admission in France, proof of means and proof that you have accommodation reserved in France, even if it is temporary (attestation d'hébergement).

If you live in a country with an “Études en France” procedure, then you can apply for a visa through Campus France online in your area of residence.

FOLLOWING YOUR ARRIVAL IN FRANCE

Long-stay visa holders

If you hold a long-stay visa valid as a residence permit (VLS-TS)

if this is your first application, you have three months to take the necessary steps. You will have to validate your visa online by logging on the ANEF website (administration-etrangers-en-france.interieur.gouv.fr). If this is a renewal, your application must be submitted online between 120 and 60 days (approximately 4 to 2 months) before your permit expires.

Visa Certification Process

In order to validate your VLS-TS online, you will need a valid email address, the information on your visa, your date of arrival in France, your address in France and a payment card to pay the tax online.

If you do not have a payment card, you can buy an electronic stamp from a tobacconist and pay in cash.

Once you have completed the online procedure, you will receive by email your login details to access your account and obtain confirmation of validation of your VLS-TS. A second email that can be downloaded will confirm the information that you filled in online.

If you hold a temporary long-stay visa (VLS-T)

you do not need to get your visa certified at a prefecture when you arrive. You are not required to take any further steps in relation to your visa. VLS-T visas cannot be renewed and it is not possible to have this kind of visa extended. You must leave France when this visa expires.

Short-stay visa holders

If you are the holder of a short-term visa for students sitting examinations and you obtain a place to study in France, you can apply for a study residence permit at a prefecture without having to return to your country of residence. If you are unsuccessful, you must leave France as soon as the results of your examination/admission are published.

If you are the holder of a short-term Schengen visa

there are no formalities required upon arrival or departure. At the end of the 90-day period you must leave the Schengen area. The Schengen short-stay visa is renewable, however you must wait six months before submitting a new application. Unlike with a long-stay visa, this visa does not allow you to take up residence in France.

Keep in mind

Tourist visas cannot be converted to student visas or student residence permits in France or any European Union member state.

If you hold a long-stay visa with the following clause: “residence permit must be requested within the first two months following arrival in France”

then you must imperatively apply for a residence permit at your local prefecture no more than two months following your arrival in France.

Accommodation

Finding accommodation in the Île-de-France region is not an easy task and can take some time. It is recommended that you plan ahead as much as possible. Every student is responsible for finding their own accommodation and, if necessary, look for temporary housing for the start of the academic year.

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University has some accommodation units within university halls of residence that it allocates to exchange students. However, being accepted and enrolling at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne does not guarantee any student with an offer of university accommodation.

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University will not issue accommodation certificates in advance to enable you to complete your consular procedures. For this purpose, proof of temporary address is sufficient.

To help you in your search, Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne offers a range of accommodation options. Please be aware that these opportunities are too limited to meet all demand.

ACCOMMODATION RESERVED FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS ON EXCHANGE PROGRAMMES

The accommodation options below are exclusively available to foreign students taking part in exchange programmes.

This type of accommodation is allocated by the International Relations Department (DRI) of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University according to demand and availability. You will be contacted in June and December in order to apply for an accommodation. If you have a disability, please let us know so that we can take it into account in your application.

Paris Crous

Every year, Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University has some Paris Crous accommodation for allocation from the beginning of September to the end of June. Rent is between €350-550/month depending on the type of accommodation.

Cité internationale universitaire de Paris (CiuP)

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne has several accommodation units available at the Cité internationale universitaire de Paris (CiuP). Rent is between €710-810/month depending on the type of accommodation. This accommodation is allocated exclusively to foreign students participating in a master's or PhD level exchange programme. Selected students will receive a partner code in order to complete their application.

Please note that these two organisations may also charge a non-refundable reservation fee.

Contact
international-housing@univ-paris1.fr

ACCOMMODATION FOR ALL FOREIGN STUDENTS (EXCHANGE PROGRAMME AND NON-EXCHANGE PROGRAMME)

These accommodation options are open to all foreign students enrolled at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University.

Cité internationale universitaire de Paris (CiuP)

If you are a foreign master's student you can apply directly to the Cité internationale universitaire de Paris (CiuP) through their website. In this case, you must not specify a partner code in the application form.

Studapart

The Studapart online platform is a partner of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and allows students to view advertisements for various types of accommodation (private accommodation, university halls, estate agent offers).

If you are interested in this accommodation opportunity, you must get in touch with the International Relations Department as soon as you are able to provide a document proving your acceptance at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne.

The Student Life Service of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne has also developed various partnerships to assist you in your student house hunting. Visit their Facebook page for more information.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

Housing Insurance

Whether you are living in a Crous residence, at the CiuP or in a privately rented accommodation, you must take out housing insurance from an insurance company or a bank.

Housing insurance will cover damage in your accommodation in the event of burglary, fire or water damage for example. This insurance is mandatory and is the responsibility of the tenant. The rate of insurance varies depending, amongst other factors, on where your accommodation is located, its size and the total value of your possessions.

The insurer with whom you take out your policy can provide you with a certificate of civil liability. You will need this document in order to complete your administrative enrolment at the university. The certificate of civil liability will provide you with third-party insurance and personal possessions cover. The civil liability certificate can also be obtained via a mutual insurance company.

Security Deposit

When you sign your lease (or accommodation contract) the landlord will usually ask for a security deposit. This is a sum of money that the landlord will keep for the duration of the rental in the event of any breaches in contract on behalf of the tenant, such as missing rent payments or damage to the property. This will normally be returned to you providing there are no breaches of contract.

Guarantor

Landlords often ask tenants to prove that they have a guarantor (generally a relative or a friend of the tenant), who will commit to paying the tenant's rent in the event that he/she is unable to do so. If you do not have a relative who can act as a guarantor for you then there are various specialist agencies you can consult.

The Action Logement group created a free type of guarantee for tenants called "Visa for Housing and Work" (Visale) that will cover the cost of rent in the event of deferred payments. Garantme also offers to students without a suitable guarantor a guarantee service for which you have to pay.

Personalised Housing Aid (APL)

The APL is a financial housing aid, subject to resource conditions, which can be granted to some eligible individuals. You can apply for it through the CAF (Caisse d'Allocations Familiales). Its amount depends, among other factors, on your place of residence, the size of your accommodation, and your financial resources. To find out whether you are eligible and to estimate the amount you may be entitled to, you can run a simulation on the CAF website.

Health

Social security affiliation is free and obligatory for all students in France, whether they are French or foreign nationals.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Why?	When?	How?	How much?
To get a portion of your healthcare cost reimbursed (medical consultations, medical tests, etc.).	As soon as possible after enrolling at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University.	By going to the ameli website aimed at foreign students, which is available in both French and English.	It's free. Social security registration in France is free for all students, including French and foreign nationals.

I need to register if:

- > I am a European student without a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC).
- > I am a European student with an S1 form.
- > I am not a European student.

I don't need to register if:

- > I am European and I have a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) or a temporary certificate. My medical costs will be reimbursed at the same level as they would be in my home country. This card must be valid until the end of the current academic year.
- > Regardless of my nationality, I have already been enrolled at a French higher education establishment. I check with the Caisse primaire d'assurance maladie (CPAM) that I am properly affiliated.

Students who are nationals of a European country, the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland can apply for an EHIC card. These students do not have to register with French social security. You should apply for an EHIC card in your home country. An EHIC card will allow you to access medical care in France.

What is an S1 form?

The S1 form is only for citizens of the European Union, the EEA and Switzerland.

It is a document that you can apply for in your home country before departure at the health organisation with which you are registered. This document allows you to register for social security purposes in France.

There are reciprocal agreements linking France social security institutions and those in other countries. To find out more about these agreements please consult the Centre des Liaisons Européennes et Internationales de Sécurité Sociale (CLEISS) website.

HEALTH INSURANCE COOPERATIVES AND TOP-UP INSURANCE

In order to increase your health insurance payouts you can also register with a health cooperative or for top-up insurance.

How do I register with a health insurance cooperative?

You are advised to register with a health insurance cooperative in order to increase your health insurance payouts, however this is not obligatory. You can ask for a quote and compare rates of different student health insurance companies, insurance companies and banks. Some health insurance cooperatives may also offer personal liability insurance, which will allow you to be covered in your place of study or internship.

CONSULTATIONS

Student Health Service (SSE)

The university partners with the Student Health Service (SSE), which offers medical consultations without upfront payment for students in a wide range of specialties: general medicine, psychological support, addiction care, nutrition, sexual health, oral health, and more. You can make an appointment through the AppFine app at one of the SSE branches in Paris. The university houses two of them: at the Centre Pierre-Mendès-France and the Centre Saint-Charles.

If you have questions about sexuality or need contraception, you can contact Le Planning Familial, an association that provides free and confidential consultations.

Mental Health

The university partners with Nightline, an organisation that supports student mental health by offering a free, anonymous, and confidential nighttime listening service, available in both French and English. Psychologists are also available for individual appointments at the SSE to help you address personal issues through one-off or regular sessions.

Disability Support

If you are a student with a disability, the university's Disability Support Office (Relais handicap) offers personalised assistance every day, by appointment. To obtain adjustments, first schedule a meeting with your disability advisor to develop your personalised support plan (PAEH), then make an appointment with the SSE to assess the compensatory measures needed to support your studies at the university.

Banks

The right to hold a bank account is written in French law. Foreign students in France can therefore open a bank account in any bank in France. Most major banks have branches in most towns. To open an account all you have to do is make an appointment with an in-branch adviser.

Opening a bank account will make daily life easier, in particular when paying bills (electricity, telephone, rent) and subscriptions (transport, internet). With a bank account you can also keep track of salary and health insurance payments more easily. A French debit card also allows you to pay for most things and prevents you from having to carry around large sums of cash. You can easily set up standing orders for your various subscriptions using your RIB (Relevé d'identité bancaire).

Your bank statements can act as proof of means in France when it comes to renewing your resident permit.

The cost of having a bank card, international bank transfers, and withdrawing money abroad can vary noticeably between one bank and another so it is advised that you compare banks before taking out an account.

You must have (at least) the following three documents with you in order to open a bank account: a piece of identification, proof of address and an attendance certificate or student card.

If you have difficulty opening a bank account, you can make use of the “droit au compte” procedure. In this case, the Banque de France (Bank of France) will designate a bank that is legally required to provide you with a bank account. Details of this procedure, as well as the documents you have to provide and contacts of various organisations offering help with this procedure are on the Banque de France website.

Working in France

French law allows the majority of foreign students to work 964 hours a year, or the equivalent of 60% of the legal working hours limit. Students can therefore only earn a partial salary. Depending on your situation and country of origin, you may need to apply for a work permit. This application can be made using the ANEF online platform of the French Ministry of the Interior.

Completing an internship can be mandatory as part of the preparation for some degrees. French and foreign students are subject to the same rules:

- > The internship must be contractual (an agreement must be signed between the university and the host organisation).
- > A minimum wage rate of €4.50 per hour of internship is compulsory if your work placement lasts more than two consecutive months (or from the 309th hour of internship).

RéseauPro is an online platform for the university's students and graduates where they can find internship and job offers.

Getting Around

PARIS AND THE ÎLE-DE-FRANCE REGION

An extensive five-zone public transport network serves Paris and the Île-de-France region and includes metro, bus, tram, as well as suburban and regional train (RER and Transilien) links. The RATP group is responsible for operating the majority of public transport services in Paris and its suburbs.

If you would like to take out a subscription you have a choice between:

- > The “Imagine R Étudiant” subscription: annual subscription aimed at students under 26 living in the Île-de-France region for unlimited journeys around the entire region (€392.30 per year, including handling fee).
- > The monthly “Navigo” subscription: monthly subscription for unlimited journeys in all zones (€90.80/month)

There are two main types of single tickets available for travel in the Île-de-France region, depending on the means of transport used:

- > Metro-Train-RER Ticket: €2.55
- > Bus-Tram Ticket: €2.05

Metro, RER and Transilien

> The metro is generally the simplest and fastest way to get around Paris. The network has 16 lines and over 300 stations in Paris and its suburbs. On weekdays, the metro operates from around 5:30 a.m. to 1:15 a.m. On Friday and Saturday nights, as well as the night before public holidays, it runs until around 2:15 a.m.

> The RER network consists of 5 lines (A, B, C, D, and E) that serve Paris and the Île-de-France region.

Both types of tickets can be purchased via the Île-de-France Mobilités mobile app or loaded onto the Navigo Easy pass, a non-personalised card available at ticket counters for €2.

You can also subscribe to the “Navigo Liberté+” service, which allows you to travel freely across the entire network without needing to buy a ticket in advance. You will benefit from reduced fares (€2.04 for Metro-Train-RER and €1.64 for Bus-Tram), free transfers, and you will automatically receive an invoice each month following your trips.

To reach Paris-Charles de Gaulle or Paris-Orly airports, a special ticket (full fare €14) will be required, unless you have an annual or monthly unlimited pass.

> Transilien trains are regional trains that mainly depart from the major Parisian train stations (Gare du Nord, Gare de l'Est, Gare de Lyon, Gare d'Austerlitz, Gare Montparnasse, and Gare Saint-Lazare).

Bus and Tram

> The bus is a great way to explore Paris. Most bus lines operate from Monday to Sunday. On Sundays and public holidays, service frequency may be reduced on certain lines.

> The Noctilien is a network of 47 night bus lines that run in Paris and across the Île-de-France between 12:30 a.m. and 5:30 a.m.

> The Île-de-France tram network includes 15 lines, with four serving Paris directly: T2, T3a, T3b, and T9.

Cycling

Vélib' is the Paris bike-sharing system. In order to use the Vélib' mechanical and electric bikes, you can choose from temporary passes (single ride, 1 day or 3 days) and 12-month commitment subscriptions. Île-de-France Mobilités also offers residents of the Île-de-France region short and long-term rental service of bikes called “Véligo Location”. The rate and duration of rental and subscription vary depending on the type of bike.

IN FRANCE AND ABROAD

By Plane

Paris is served by three international airports:

> Paris-Charles de Gaulle Airport (CDG)

RER B (“Aéroport Charles de Gaulle 1” station for terminals 1 and 3 and “Aéroport Charles de Gaulle 2-TGV” station for terminal 2)

TGV (“Aéroport Charles de Gaulle 2-TGV” train station)

Metro (line 14) + bus (line 9517)

Bus: lines 350 and 351

Noctilien bus: lines N140 and N143

> Paris-Orly Airport (ORY)

Metro: line 14

RER B + “Orlyval” shuttle train, or RER C + bus line 183

Noctilien bus: lines N22, N31, N131 and N144

Metro (line 7) + tram (line T7)

Tram (line T9) + bus (line 183)

> Paris-Beauvais Airport (BVA)

Aérobis Shuttle (lines A01 and A04)

By Train

The network operated by France's public railway company, SNCF, is extensive and well-developed. Travelling by train is usually the fastest and most convenient way to get around France, especially thanks to the TGV (high-speed train), the most efficient service. It is also an eco-friendly option for international travel, with direct connections from Paris to eight European countries.

SNCF stations in Paris:

Paris Austerlitz

Paris Est

Paris Gare du Nord

Paris Montparnasse

Paris Saint-Lazare

Paris Bercy Bourgogne – Pays d'Auvergne

Paris Gare de Lyon

By Coach

For a more leisurely and cost-effective option, the bus is a convenient option for getting around France. Several coach companies provide services from Paris to many other French and European cities.

Going Out

With an impressive cultural heritage, a welcoming and cosmopolitan atmosphere, Paris is one of the world's top cultural destinations. In the QS Best Student Cities 2026 ranking, Paris was featured as the 3rd best student city in Europe and the 7th best in the world.

Paris is alive with exhibitions, shows, festivals and sports events all year round. Art, architecture, fashion, food and crafts are constantly being reinvented in the heart of the French capital.

In every neighbourhood of Paris there are unmissable attractions, secret gardens and hidden gems, on the hill of Montmartre to Montparnasse, the Latin Quarter to the Canal Saint-Martin and on the banks of the Seine.

MUSEUMS AND MONUMENTS

With over 140 museums, the Paris region has one of the most varied cultural scenes in the world in terms of the art forms represented and themes presented. From painting and sculpture to photography, contemporary art and science, creations are constantly emerging to suit every taste.

Free Admission for Under 26s

Access to permanent collections in many museums and monuments in Paris and the Île-de-France region is free for young people under 26 who come from one of the European Union member states (Louvre Museum, Musée d'Orsay, Palace of Versailles, etc.). There is also a discount for temporary exhibitions in most museums.

Museums with Free Admission

It is free for everyone to visit the permanent collections in 11 of the 14 City of Paris' museums all year round (only the Île de la Cité Archeological Crypt, the Catacombs of Paris and the Palais Galliera have entrance fees)

You can also wander freely around the French capital's 530 public parks, gardens and squares. From the Bois de Vincennes to the Jardin du Luxembourg, passing through the Buttes-Chaumont and the Jardin des Plantes, you will find plenty of options to choose from.

Outside of Paris, many getaway destinations can be reached in less than 90 minutes to rival what you can find in the capital. Following the trail of the Impressionists at Auvers-sur-Oise or Giverny, visiting one of the region's many castles such as Vaux-le-Vicomte or Fontainebleau, or even discovering the Villa Savoye designed by architect Le Corbusier in Poissy - the possibilities are endless.

EVENTS

You can find below a selection of unmissable cultural and sporting events held in Paris each year. These events may be subject to rescheduling in the event of exceptional circumstances.

European Heritage Day: third weekend in September

Free or reduced entrance to sites and monuments that are not often open to the public.

Chinese New Year: sometime between the end of January and the end of February

See traditional costumes and displays passing through several districts of Paris in spectacular processions.

Printemps du cinéma: beginning of Spring

Benefit from cinema tickets at €5 for all films across all participating cinemas for a period of three days.

Paris Marathon: April

One of the world's biggest marathons, bringing together almost 60,000 runners.

European Night of Museums: third Saturday of May

Chance to visit Parisian museums at night and attend one-off demonstrations.

Roland-Garros - The French Open: end of May - beginning of June

The world's biggest clay surface tennis tournament.

Nuit Blanche: first Saturday in June

Art installations and performances open for all-night viewing until dawn in public spaces and Parisian buildings.

Fête de la musique: 21st June

Free street and garden concerts, as well as concerts in squares, stations and bars.

Fête du cinéma: end of June - beginning of July

Benefit from cinema tickets at €5 for all films across all participating cinemas during several days.

Bastille Day: 14th July

Parade, concert and fireworks launched from the Eiffel Tower to celebrate the country's national day.

Paris Plages: from the start of July till the end of August

Sand, deckchairs, palm trees and organised activities along the banks of the Seine, the Bassin de la Villette and the Canal Saint-Martin.

THEATRES

With about 300 performances a week and 130 venues, Paris has a huge variety of plays running throughout the year.

With the support of the City of Paris, some private theatres in the capital offer tickets to young people under the age of 26 for €10, subject to availability, on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. These tickets must be booked by phone or directly at the theatre's box office.

The Comédie Française, the quintessential French theatre, offers tickets to visitors under the age of 28 an hour before the performance, on Mondays, without prior reservation, at the Petit Bureau (the outdoor ticket booth on Rue de Richelieu).

CINEMA

Paris is one of the cities with the highest density of cinemas in the world. With over 70 cinemas in the French capital, the programme is highly diversified, with several hundred films on every week and new releases every Wednesday. Most cinemas show foreign films in their original version with French subtitles.

"Lost in Frenchlation" offers non-French speakers the opportunity to discover typically French films with English subtitles in independent cinemas across Paris. The screenings come with discussions in English as well as cocktails and other special activities.

Most cinemas in Paris offer reduced tickets to students and young people under 26. In some cinemas entrance for morning screenings is available at a reduced price.

YOUTH OFFERS

Kiosque Jeunes

Kiosque Jeunes is a scheme put in place by the City of Paris opening up a variety of cultural and sporting events for 13 to 30 year olds for free or at reduced rates.

To benefit from the offers, all you need to do is create an account on moncompte.paris.fr, pre-register on kiosquejeunes.paris.fr, and complete your registration by going to the Kiosque Jeunes with the required documents. The Kiosque is located at Quartier Jeunes (QJ) - 4 place du Louvre, 75001 Paris.

You will then be able to book up to two tickets per day online, to attend an event from a wide range of cultural offerings.

Pass Jeunes

The Pass Jeunes offers 14-25 year-olds from Paris, the Seine-Saint-Denis area and partner cities free or discounted access to a wide selection of cultural, sporting, and leisure activities (exhibitions, cinema, theatre, etc.).

To receive this pass, you must reserve it online (subject to availability) at passjeunes.paris.fr, and then collect it from a pick-up point within eight days. It comes in the form of a booklet containing coupons which you can use to access the various offers.

Organisation of Studies

France, like most European countries, joined the Bologna Declaration (1999), which is considered to be the starting point for the construction of European higher education space.

European countries decided to harmonise their higher education system in order to ensure the recognition of qualifications across Europe and support student, staff and researcher mobility. The current system rests on several key principles.

PhD

Upon completion of a master's, students can enrol to begin doctoral studies. All students who hold a master's degree can apply to study for a PhD, whether they hold a master's degree, an engineering degree, or have a master's level qualification from a business school. On average, doctoral studies last for three years.

A THREE-TIER CURRICULUM

Bachelor's

In France undergraduate degrees are taken over three years, or six semesters.

Master's

After completing an undergraduate degree, students can study for a master's degree over two years (or four semesters), that can be taken immediately after a bachelor's degree or can be part of a programme of lifelong learning. Master's qualifications are designed to:

- > prepare students for research careers;
- > prepare students to take an advanced qualification and find employment at a high level.

THE DIVISION OF TEACHING INTO SEMESTERS

Each academic year is divided into two semesters, each worth 30 ECTS credits (European Credit Transfer System). Subjects are grouped into modules (UE - Unité d'Enseignement) that require participation in lectures, seminars (TD) and practical exercises (TP).

Lectures

These take place in lecture theatres, often called "amphis", sometimes with as many as 1,000 students present.

Seminars and Practicals

Seminars (TD) and practical exercises (TP) are small-group classes that take place in classrooms or laboratories, exploring lecture topics in greater depth.

THE EUROPEAN CREDIT SYSTEM

Each module (UE) completed within a semester results in the award of ECTS credits. One semester of study is worth 30 credits and an academic year is worth 60 ECTS credits. This is the total volume of work that a student should complete during the course of a year. This system makes it easier for qualifications to be recognised across European countries. It also makes it easier for the credits obtained in one institution to be recognised in another institution in a different European country.

CLASSES

University classes generally start in September and finish around April-May before the end of year exams.

GRADING SYSTEM

The grading scale in France goes from 0 at the bottom of the scale to 20. Students must achieve 10/20 to be awarded ECTS credits.

ASSESSMENT

There are two types of university assessment: continuous assessment and examinations. Continuous assessment takes place throughout the year and can take the form of oral or written examinations covering all topics on the syllabus.

Examinations assess students' knowledge in all syllabus topics over the course of a few days. For modules assessed via examinations students will be assessed at two points of the year (with examinations held at the end of semester one and end of semester two). Every qualification has its own specific assessment procedures.

RESITS

During the resit period students can retake examinations for which they did not receive a passing grade. First and second semester resits take place at the end of the academic year.

Joining Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne

Enrolment

Once you have been accepted to study at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne you must complete the three enrolment steps:

STUDENT AND CAMPUS LIFE CONTRIBUTION (CVEC)

Exchange students do not have to pay the CVEC fee. However, foreign students who are not part of an exchange programme or are continuing their education at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University must pay this contribution before enrolling. The rate of this contribution is €105.

You can obtain your proof of payment in two minutes:

- > Create an account at MesServices.Etudiant.gouv.fr
- > Select Paris as your place of study
- > Pay your CVEC contribution
- > Receive your proof of payment and present it to Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne when you enrol.

You are exempt from paying the CVEC contribution if either of the following cases apply to you: you are a refugee who has been granted subsidiary protection, stateless, an asylum seeker with the right to stay in France, or a French government scholarship holder.

ADMINISTRATIVE ENROLMENT

If you are accepted to take part in an exchange programme, once you are officially nominated, you will receive a link in order to apply. You will remain enrolled at your home university to which you will continue to pay your usual tuition fees. You do not need to pay any tuition fees to Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne.

You will receive by email instructions on how to complete your administrative enrolment on Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne's Primoweb site (for both exchange students and full degree students). You will receive a pre-enrolment number along with these instructions and a step-by-step tutorial. You will need your pre-enrolment number to access the Primoweb site, as well as your date of birth.

For non-EU nationals, you can apply for a student visa using your enrolment letter if you live abroad, or request a renewal of your residence permit with this letter if you live in France.

Once enrolled you will receive a confirmation printable email and your student number. Keep this number as it will allow you to activate your account on the ENT (virtual learning space) and access the university's online services.

On your ENT account you will find a tab entitled "Pièces Justificatives" where you should upload the documents required to complete your enrolment.

These documents are:

- > Identification document (passport or national identity card)
- > Academic transcript of secondary school qualifications, along with a translation, including for master's enrolment (translation is not required for exchange students)
- > Proof of online payment of registration fees, for full degree students (copy of the email)
- > Proof of civil liability insurance, which you can obtain from your relevant insurer (you can upload this later to the ENT).

ACADEMIC ENROLMENT

Once you have finished your administrative enrolment at the university, you must complete your academic enrolment with your academic department ("UFR") or school, in order to be able to sit your examinations.. Enrolment in language classes (eg. French as a foreign language), sport and cultural activities should be completed through the relevant services: Department of Languages (DDL), Sports and Physical Education Department (UEFAPS) and Student Life Service (PVE).

Additional information for exchange programme students:

Before your departure you must sign your learning agreement that lists the classes you will be taking at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, as well as the equivalent classes in your home university. Upon passing these courses you will then be awarded with credits for equivalent classes in order to obtain your final qualification in your home institution. Once you arrive at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne you must enrol in the classes detailed in your learning agreement. You must get in touch with your international relations academic advisor upon arrival so that they can check your timetable. Once you have completed this step you must contact via email or go to the administrative office ("scolarité") of your host department for each class in order to complete your academic enrolment.

Orientation

Every year leading up to the start of semester one in September and the start of the second semester in January, Welcome Days are held for incoming international students. These weeks are a chance for students to become better acquainted with the university.

During these events, exchange students have the opportunity to improve their skills in French as a foreign language (FLE) thanks to classes taught by the department of Languages (DDL). Students are grouped based on a language placement test they take at the beginning of the Welcome Days. Students may also attend university methodology classes for each discipline as well as research method classes offered by the library in order to support students with using the online resources.

At the start of the Welcome Days, there are two introductory meetings (for exchange students and full degree students), at which representatives give information about various university associations and services, such as the International Relations Department, the sports and student life services.

The Welcome Days finish with a cocktail reception which is an opportunity for exchange students to meet and get to know each other.

If you would like to participate in Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne's Welcome Days then you must fill out an application form online that will be sent to you prior to your arrival as places are limited. Your offer to study at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University does not guarantee a place on these orientation events. Participating in all sessions during the Welcome Days does not automatically result in the awarding of credits (ECTS).

JOIN THE BUDDY SYSTEM TO MAKE SETTLING IN EASIER!

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University participates in the Buddy System, a mentoring platform developed by the Erasmus Student Network (ESN). This initiative aims to facilitate support, guidance, and connections between international and local students through a matching system. The International Relations Department (DRI) coordinates this platform at the university, in collaboration with the International Students Association of Paris 1 (ISAP1).

Why register?

To meet and build connections with local students

To explore French culture while practising one or more languages

To receive support with your administrative procedures and settling in Paris

How does it work?

- > Sign up on the platform as an international student and fill in your preferences in your profile to boost your chances of finding a mentor who suits you
- > You will be matched with a mentor based on your profile and expectations
- > Visit your dashboard to discover your mentor and get in touch with him/her

Resources

IT Services

You will receive your login details to access the university's online resources once you have administratively enrolled. You can activate your Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne account using these details and create a password.

This account allows you to connect to all online university services through a virtual learning environment (ENT), giving you access to:

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| > Interactive Learning Spaces (EPI) | > the university directory |
| > university email (Webmail) | > online academic resources |
| > personal online storage space | > library catalogues |
| > exam results | > your university eReader account |

DIGITAL LEARNING

Interactive Learning Spaces allow you to access and download resources teachers put online but also to complete academic activities (interactive exercises, homework submission, class forum, etc.). Distance learning is also accessible from the EPI (virtual lectures and classes).

PIX

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University offers all undergraduate students the opportunity to prepare for the national Pix certification. This is an online platform that allows you to assess and certify your digital skills. The certification awarded can be recognised in both your academic and professional journey.

WI-FI AND COMPUTER ROOMS

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne students can make use of two computer rooms upon presentation of a valid student card. These can be found at:

- > Centre Pierre-Mendès-France: room B14.03
- > Centre Sorbonne: room C614

There are two ways to connect to the university wireless network with your ENT credentials: 'eduroam', which is available from any higher education institution, or 'universite-paris1'.

If you have trouble using Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne's online services please click on the "Assistance" tab within your virtual learning environment account.

Libraries

The joint library service (SCD) of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University includes seven integrated libraries. Some twenty libraries associated to the SCD and other inter-university libraries are also open to the university's students.

The most popular are Centre Pierre-Mendès-France (PMF) and Jean-Claude Colliard libraries, as well as the 5th arrondissement inter-university libraries: the BIS (Sorbonne inter-university library) and the Cujas library.

While undergraduates tend to use the PMF and Hélène Ahrweiler libraries, master's and doctoral students often use the inter-university and specialised libraries. Other libraries aimed at students enrolled in the second year of a Master's programme or in a doctoral programme are not listed here, but can be found on the university's website dedicated to libraries.

CONSULTING AND BORROWING DOCUMENTS

The Mikado tool, available from the university's libraries or remotely from the ENT, provides access to the entire range of documents available at Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University. This includes documents available in the libraries, as well as electronic resources (e-books, articles, etc.), for which Mikado can be used to search a large part of full-text content. The tool also makes it possible to obtain information on the location and availability of a resource in the library.

Documents that are not in the library catalogue and are available in other university or public libraries in Paris can be sent via interlibrary loan (PEB). The service is only available to members of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University (students, teaching staff, administrative staff).

MAIN UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

The list below is not exhaustive, and more specialised libraries exist within each discipline. The access and loan conditions of each library may vary depending on your field of study and academic level.

Other libraries located in the 5th arrondissement, such as Sainte-Geneviève and Sainte-Barbe, are open to all students.

University Commitments

Disability

In line with its core values, Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University is committed to welcoming and supporting disabled students. If you have a disability, you can benefit from personalised support, every day by appointment, from the university's Relais handicap. Its team provides individual welcome, information and assistance in dealing with the various university services and finding the most appropriate answers to your needs. The Relais handicap can also help you if you need any adjustments (exam and course arrangements, accessibility, etc.).

Contact

Relais handicap: handi@univ-paris1.fr

Incident Reporting

As part of its safety policy, Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University has developed a common incident reporting system for all students who are victims or have witnessed situations of gender-based or sexual violence, harassment, discrimination, assault, or other behaviour causing a psychosocial hazard within the university. All reports are submitted to the university's dedicated support unit and remain strictly confidential at every stage of the procedure. They are dealt with on an individual basis so that the victim or witness can be heard and offered appropriate support.

Sustainable Development

Throughout the year, the Sustainable Development Service gives all the university's students the opportunity to contribute, either individually or through their clubs and societies, to the various actions carried out by Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University. Students can take part in the many events, initiatives and workshops launched each year to address this key topic and help build a sustainable university. In 2026, Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne was awarded the Sustainable Development and Social Responsibility (DD&RS) label, recognising its commitment to ecological and social transition.

In light of the energy and environmental crisis, the university is raising awareness within its community, including students, about the importance of energy efficiency and the transition to sustainable practices. It encourages everyone to get involved and face this challenge together by adopting the right habits and incorporating simple and effective eco-friendly actions into daily life.

Green mobility goes beyond simply choosing ecologically responsible means of transport to travel to Paris and get around during your stay. It also encompasses your choices in housing, food, and recycling. By adopting mindful habits in these areas, you can significantly reduce your ecological footprint throughout your time in the city.

Societies and Cultural Activities

Clubs and Societies

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University has many student societies, including cultural societies, sports and subject societies, and union societies. There is a huge choice if you are interested in getting involved in the university's student clubs and societies.

Societies are an excellent way of meeting other students and gaining experience in a variety of fields. If you are interested in student societies you can stay updated with their news and join if you wish.

Some student societies help international students become more integrated at the university by running regular activities organised for participants, including many cultural visits. You are welcome to attend these events all throughout the year, whether or not you are an exchange student, staying for a semester, a year, or more.

Cultural Activities

For those who enjoy theatre, music, drawing, writing, or who wish to discover the world of radio, the Student Life Office offers a wide range of cultural workshops. If you are a non-exchange student, some workshops may entitle you to a bonus on your average grade. Registration is annual or semester-based depending on the workshop, and is completed through the Reservaculture platform, accessible via the ENT.

Theatre

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University offers several theatre workshops for amateurs and experienced performers alike. They are a wonderful way to begin or continue developing your theatre skills. You can also receive discounts for theatre tickets when you enrol in theatre workshops in partnership with the Théâtre des Quartiers d'Ivry and the Odéon-Théâtre de l'Europe.

Rehearsals are held for two or three-hour sessions each week, either in university buildings or elsewhere in Paris. Each workshop group puts on a production at the end of the year. If you are interested in learning about improvisation techniques there is also an English language improvisational theatre group.

Music

The Paris Universities Orchestra and Choir (O.C.U.P.) is open to students from higher education institutions in Paris and the Île-de-France region. It is a great way to share in a passion for music and meet students studying other subjects and from different backgrounds. The orchestra and choir perform several times a year at concerts involving Parisian and European universities and other prestigious locations.

The orchestra and the choir recruit at the beginning of the academic year and auditions take place in September. You must be an experienced player in order to be recruited within the orchestra. Knowledge of music theory is an advantage when joining the choir however beginners are also welcome.

Photography

Combining theory and practice, the photography workshop offers students an introduction to the aesthetics of contemporary photography, a training in basic shooting techniques and it also addresses the stage of post-production work.

There is no specific equipment required and the sessions take place once a week within the university. Another photography workshop is also available for advanced students.

Writing

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne offers creative writing workshops, where you can learn how to read your writings and write a complete short story.

Radio

Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University offers radio workshops in partnership with Radio Campus Paris, the local independent student radio station in the Île-de-France region.

These workshops offer students the chance to discover the world of radio by learning about production and editing techniques. You can also learn how to produce reports and features and to conduct interviews. Over the course of the sessions you will work on an editorial project that will culminate in the joint-production of a programme with a live studio audience and special guests.

Other Cultural Activities

The university's Student Life Service organises every year, during the second semester, a Short Film Festival. This event is an opportunity for students at the university to show their films to the public and to a panel of academics and industry professionals. Over 10 short films are selected each year to be screened at an awards evening in a Parisian cinema.

There are documentary screenings, conferences, exhibitions and debates organised all year round in various university centres.

The university has also launched a workshop in partnership with the Arab World Institute to discover the arts of the Arab world in several courses.

You can get in touch directly with the Student Life Service and check their Facebook page to learn more about societies, partnerships and cultural events at the university. For more information on the latest workshops available, check the student Intranet.

Sports

There are many sporting activities at the university that you can participate in for free as part of your university studies or independently in your own time.

SPORTS AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT (UEFAPS)

UEFAPS runs a number of activities led by specialised sports and physical education teachers. The teaching team offers more than 60 different activities from beginner to advanced level. You can consult the full list of activities, timetables, and practical information on the UEFAPS website and Intranet. The activities take place in Paris and its suburbs.

Credit-Bearing Courses

If you are a non-exchange student, enrolment in a sports activity as part of a training course leads to an assessment with a grade. You can only choose one activity (from beginner to advanced level) as part of credit-bearing courses.

Participation in organised sports activities could qualify you for extra-credit, equating to a maximum of a 0.5 point grade average increase across the semester. You can also choose an optional sports activity as part of a module (UE) of your course of study, and thus obtain ECTS credits. Please note that the modalities of sports credit-bearing courses may vary according to your level of study and your academic department.

How do I enrol?

You can enrol online via the Reservasport platform, accessible on the ENT. When going to the first course, you must have a valid student card and, for certain activities only or if you are disabled, a French medical certificate.

Extracurricular Courses (non Credit-Bearing)

You can also choose from the numerous activities on offer to do sport during your free time. These activities are non credit-bearing and will not be assessed.

Disabled Students

Disabled students can take part in group classes and/or schedule individual sessions to participate in sporting activity as part of the Parcours Personnalisé d'Éducation Physique et Sportive programme (PPEPS).

PARIS 1 SPORTS ASSOCIATION (ASSOCIATION SPORTIVE PARIS 1)

AS Paris 1 is an affiliated member of the Fédération Française du Sport Universitaire and coordinates a wide range of sporting competitions at all levels. You can consult the programmes and results on the Ligue Paris Île-de-France du Sport Universitaire (LIFSU) website. Competitions generally take place from the beginning of November. You have to be a member of the sports association at the time of the first competition in order to participate.

How do I sign up for AS?

You must complete the form online or at the AS office (Centre PMF - C803).

Check their website for the list of documents you need to provide. Membership fees are payable by cheque or cash.

Eating

There are several Crous eating options located around the university where all students can get one meal per service for €1, to sit in or take away. It is based on a six-point menu system, allowing you to choose a main course for four points and a starter and dessert for one or two points each. Paris has many Crous university canteens and cafeterias to choose from.

Please consult the “Restauration” section on the “Crous de Paris” website to find more information about Crous canteens, such as which one is the closest to your campus or which one is open the latest.

IZLY CONTACTLESS PAYMENT

All Crous canteens work with the Izly contactless payment system.

This system is fast because it's contactless, simple because you can recharge your account online or on the Izly mobile app, and convenient, as you can use it in any Crous restaurant. For students within the Académie de Paris, the Izly card is the same card as the student card. To activate the Izly card you just have to make an account online using your Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne email address.

If you have any questions, you can go to one of the Crous de Paris university restaurants' counters.
